The Prince's Home

A big, modern building next to Aleja Wolności 44 in Częstochowa. It was a project started by Adam Paprocki and requested by prince Michał Romanow in the years of 1912-1913 as the biggest apartment block in the city at the time.

I remember that its located opposite a bus station and market, where me and my mom got new curtains.

Aleje NMP

The main of the city. It stretches from the church of Saint Hygmont at pl. Daszyńskiego, up to the Parki Jasnogórskie. Aleje NMP are characterized by their unique construction. During the period of pilgrim-ism the building was used by Pilgrims heading towards the Kláštor Jasnogórski. Among all the residents of Orestochowa, Aleje NMP were split into three parts (I Aleje, II Aleje, III Aleje). I Aleja - It starts at Daszyński Square and ends at the viaduct above the equation of Suas in Dublin. Aleje II Starts at the viaduct and ends at Biegański Square. III Aleja - Starts at Biegański Square and ends at the Parki Jasnogórskie.

I remember "Plac Jacka", when me and my granddad went to get ice-cream but the shopkeeper had no change to give us so she just gave us the ice-cream for free.

Klasztor Jasnogórski.

It's one of the most important places of culture for hundreds of years, the most important Pilgrim center in Poland. On Jasna Góra you can find 'Black Madonna of Częstochowa' which is a venerated Icon of the blessed Virgin Mary housed at the Monastery and a display of various works of art. On the 16th of September 1994 Jasna Góra was written onto the list of Historical Sites. The Monastery is built on a bright limestone hill 293 meters above sea level. The start of The Monastery's existence dates back to 1382.

I remember the Way of the Cross of Jesus Christ, Treasury, Arsenal and Cannons.

Ratusz - Town Hall

The Town Hall in the center of Częstochowa was built in the years of 1828-1836. It was rebuilt in the year 1908 and written into the list of Historical Statues in 1960. It's located on the south side of Plac Bieganski.

I remember this place at which multiple festivals and parties are held. I also remember the Tour Bus and its travel course around Old Częstochowa.

Nowy Kościół, Ozenstochau

It's placed on Krakowska Street. It's one of the most important cathedrals not only in Poland but in Europe. It was built over an old cemetery, in 1825-1898.

In these days it is known as "Katedra Ozenstochowska," and got a few more towers installed.

I remember the red bricks that the cathedral is built out of. My mom went to high school not far from the Cathedral.
