

My granny Wanda was born in March 1955 Poland. Back in the days they were strange days for me because there was no televisions, phones, internet and playgrounds. Every child played outside different games like hide and seek and catch. In shops there was no toys so every child had a hand made toy with all kind of old materials they made teddys or dolls. My granny walked to school that's because the cars were so expensive. After school my granny extra lessons such as dancing, swimming and art. My granny enjoyed art the most because they did oragami, drew, simple decorations and wooden toys. My granny went to the cinema because she had no television. Those days they had to help parent cleaning, brushing, washing because they need to work hard for food and bills.
