

My uncle's father-in-law used to tell this story about a "Crown solicitor" (a man who worked for the British Government and brought people to court.) in Skibbereen. Jasper Wolfe was responsible for jailing violent members of the IRA. The IRA sent assassins to get him but he wasn't home until one day his house was surrounded by the IRA. His neighbor, Mrs Macdonald, got a nun's outfit off her clothes line. She came to his backdoor, dressed him up in the nun outfit and walked him out of town potentially saving his life.

My dad told me this story and he is from

The Bungalow
Betsboro
Skibbereen
Co. Cork