I got my story from My Nanny Margaret Sutton
from Timoleague

Class 4th

My great grandfather Paul Kingston from Barryhall in Timoleague lived in the time of the black and tans in the 1920's. The black and tans were the British Police. It wasn't safe to be out late at night in those times, they would fire shots at the young men. My great grandfather was making his way home one night with friends and they fired shots at them. The bullet skimmed his head. He always said it was his miraculous medal that saved him. There was a young man shot dead not long after and there is a cross erected in his memory in Barryhall.
