

Name:

Dylan Scannell

Class:

6th Class

School:

Lisavaird National School

Stories of the Revolution

My great grandfather Jeremiah Collins, cousin of Michael Collins served Michael his last pint at the Four alls pub and where the Michael Collins Monument is in Sams Cross, there used to be a tiny hall where they held dances and collected their newspapers.

Sams Cross got its name from a highway-man called Sam Wallace who used to drop down from a branch on a tree and land on a car to rob the people.

My Nana told me that she wasn't sure about this or not but she said my great grandfather helped Michael Collins change his tyre on the touring car as they had ran over some glass outside the pub.

By Dylan Scarnell

My Nana told me

the top and bottom one and Tim Crowley told me
the middle one.

My Nana's address:
Tullinearkey, Clonakilty
Co. Cork.

Tim Crowley's address:
Castlevue, Clonakilty,
Co. Cork