My great grandad was a worker in Dublin, in the bank in those days.

There was a curfew that you had to be in your house by eight o'clock because of the fights on the streets.

You could get shot, if you weren't in your house by eight o'clock

My great grandad got robbed a couple of times when he was in the bank.

Omen Curtin is my great gran uncle, he was in the IRA and drove for the leaders.

There was an IRA man in Dublin who was wounded.

An English armoured car was surrounding the wounded man and shot bullets around him and let him bleed to death.

Omen Curtin is my great gran uncle, was asked to drive the captured officer general Lucas, to the place of detention.
