

CURENCY

At the time Estonia was ruled by the soviet union. Because Russia ruled Estonia evrey Estonian family had to send one son over to the soviet union. My moms great grandfather was picked to serve so he stayed in Russia with the military for 3 years. Finally my moms grandfather finished serving in the army and he returned to Estonia with some money. His plan was to buy a farm after serving in the army he saved a lot and decided to buy a farm with animals. However he returned to Estonia and later was told that his savings were worthless ~~the kroon was no longer used and the new currency was the euro so~~ he had no money left he had to start again. A good while after he died Estonia won back there Independence in 1991 and signed the declaration of the democratic republic of Estonia. So the law changed and Estonian families don't have to send there family member to the Soviet Union anymore.
