My Great Great Grandad

My great great grandad was hiding during the riring. He was part of a tribe, I am not certain of the name. He helped people in his tribe if they were injured because he was the leader and liked helping people. Sadly he took care of other people more than himself and got very ill while trying to save some from illness. When he died his tribe nicknamed him the survivor. I know he didnt survive but he helped other people survive.
