

Black and Tans.

The Black and Tans were English soldiers in WWI at the time.

There were no other jobs in England so they joined the police in Ireland because they couldn't get any other job.

They wore Black and Tan uniforms as they ran out of the right uniform.

They were very cruel and brutal in their treatment of the IRA and ordinary people.

If the IRA burned down one of the Black and Tans bases the Black and Tans would look for the best house and throw the people out of the house, and they didn't care if the people become homeless.

At 1920 around November the Black and Tans went towards Macroom and shot people who lived there and then they went to Kilmicheal but they got ambushed by the IRA and the IRA killed most of them.

By Ashling O
Sullivan