

My story is about my great-grandmother.

She lived in the townland of Drominidy in the parish of Drimoleague and when she was a young girl she remembered the Black and Tans calling to the house and checking a list of people that lived in the house.

The list was on the back of the door of every household.

Her house was a 'safe' house for the Flying Column and they would send word to be prepared, have bread baked and beds ready for them. She also remembered them drilling in the yard and making bombs with Tom Barry and they were also accompanied by Nurse Price who looked after the soldier's injuries.

Later Tom Barry and Nurse Price married

Story told by Mary O'Callaghan

Address: Park cottage, Listarkin, Union Hall

Written by Donal O'Callaghan, Union Hall, N.S.