John Barry's Life

John Lived in Ireland, but then moved to America to Join the Army.
As they had won world war 1 They celebrated.
But Sadly John was hurt so he had to go to the medical tent.

He had to go back to Ireland soon after that.
But when he went back the war of Independence was on.

John was in a cave where he was lying in a bed where some doctors were helping him. At the same time the black and tans were too.

The black and tans were about to shoot him but John said "I am from the American Army". The Black and tans dropped the gun and walked away. But then John said "are you forgetting something" and John threw them the gun.

A few years later John Barry died.
That's the end of John Barry's life.
