My Great Grandmother, Mary Gordon, lived in Leap. She went to school in North Street from the age of twelve to seventeen. She had to cycle to school every morning no matter what the weather was; hail, rain or snow. She did this during the Troubles from 1919-1923. Mary had to bring messages from Leap to Skibbereen on her bike. It was sometimes dangerous, but nothing major happened to her. The school she went to was co-educational and multi-denominational. When all of this was over she became a teacher. She taught in Mary Eye, Moultrahan.
