

Dennis and the donkey

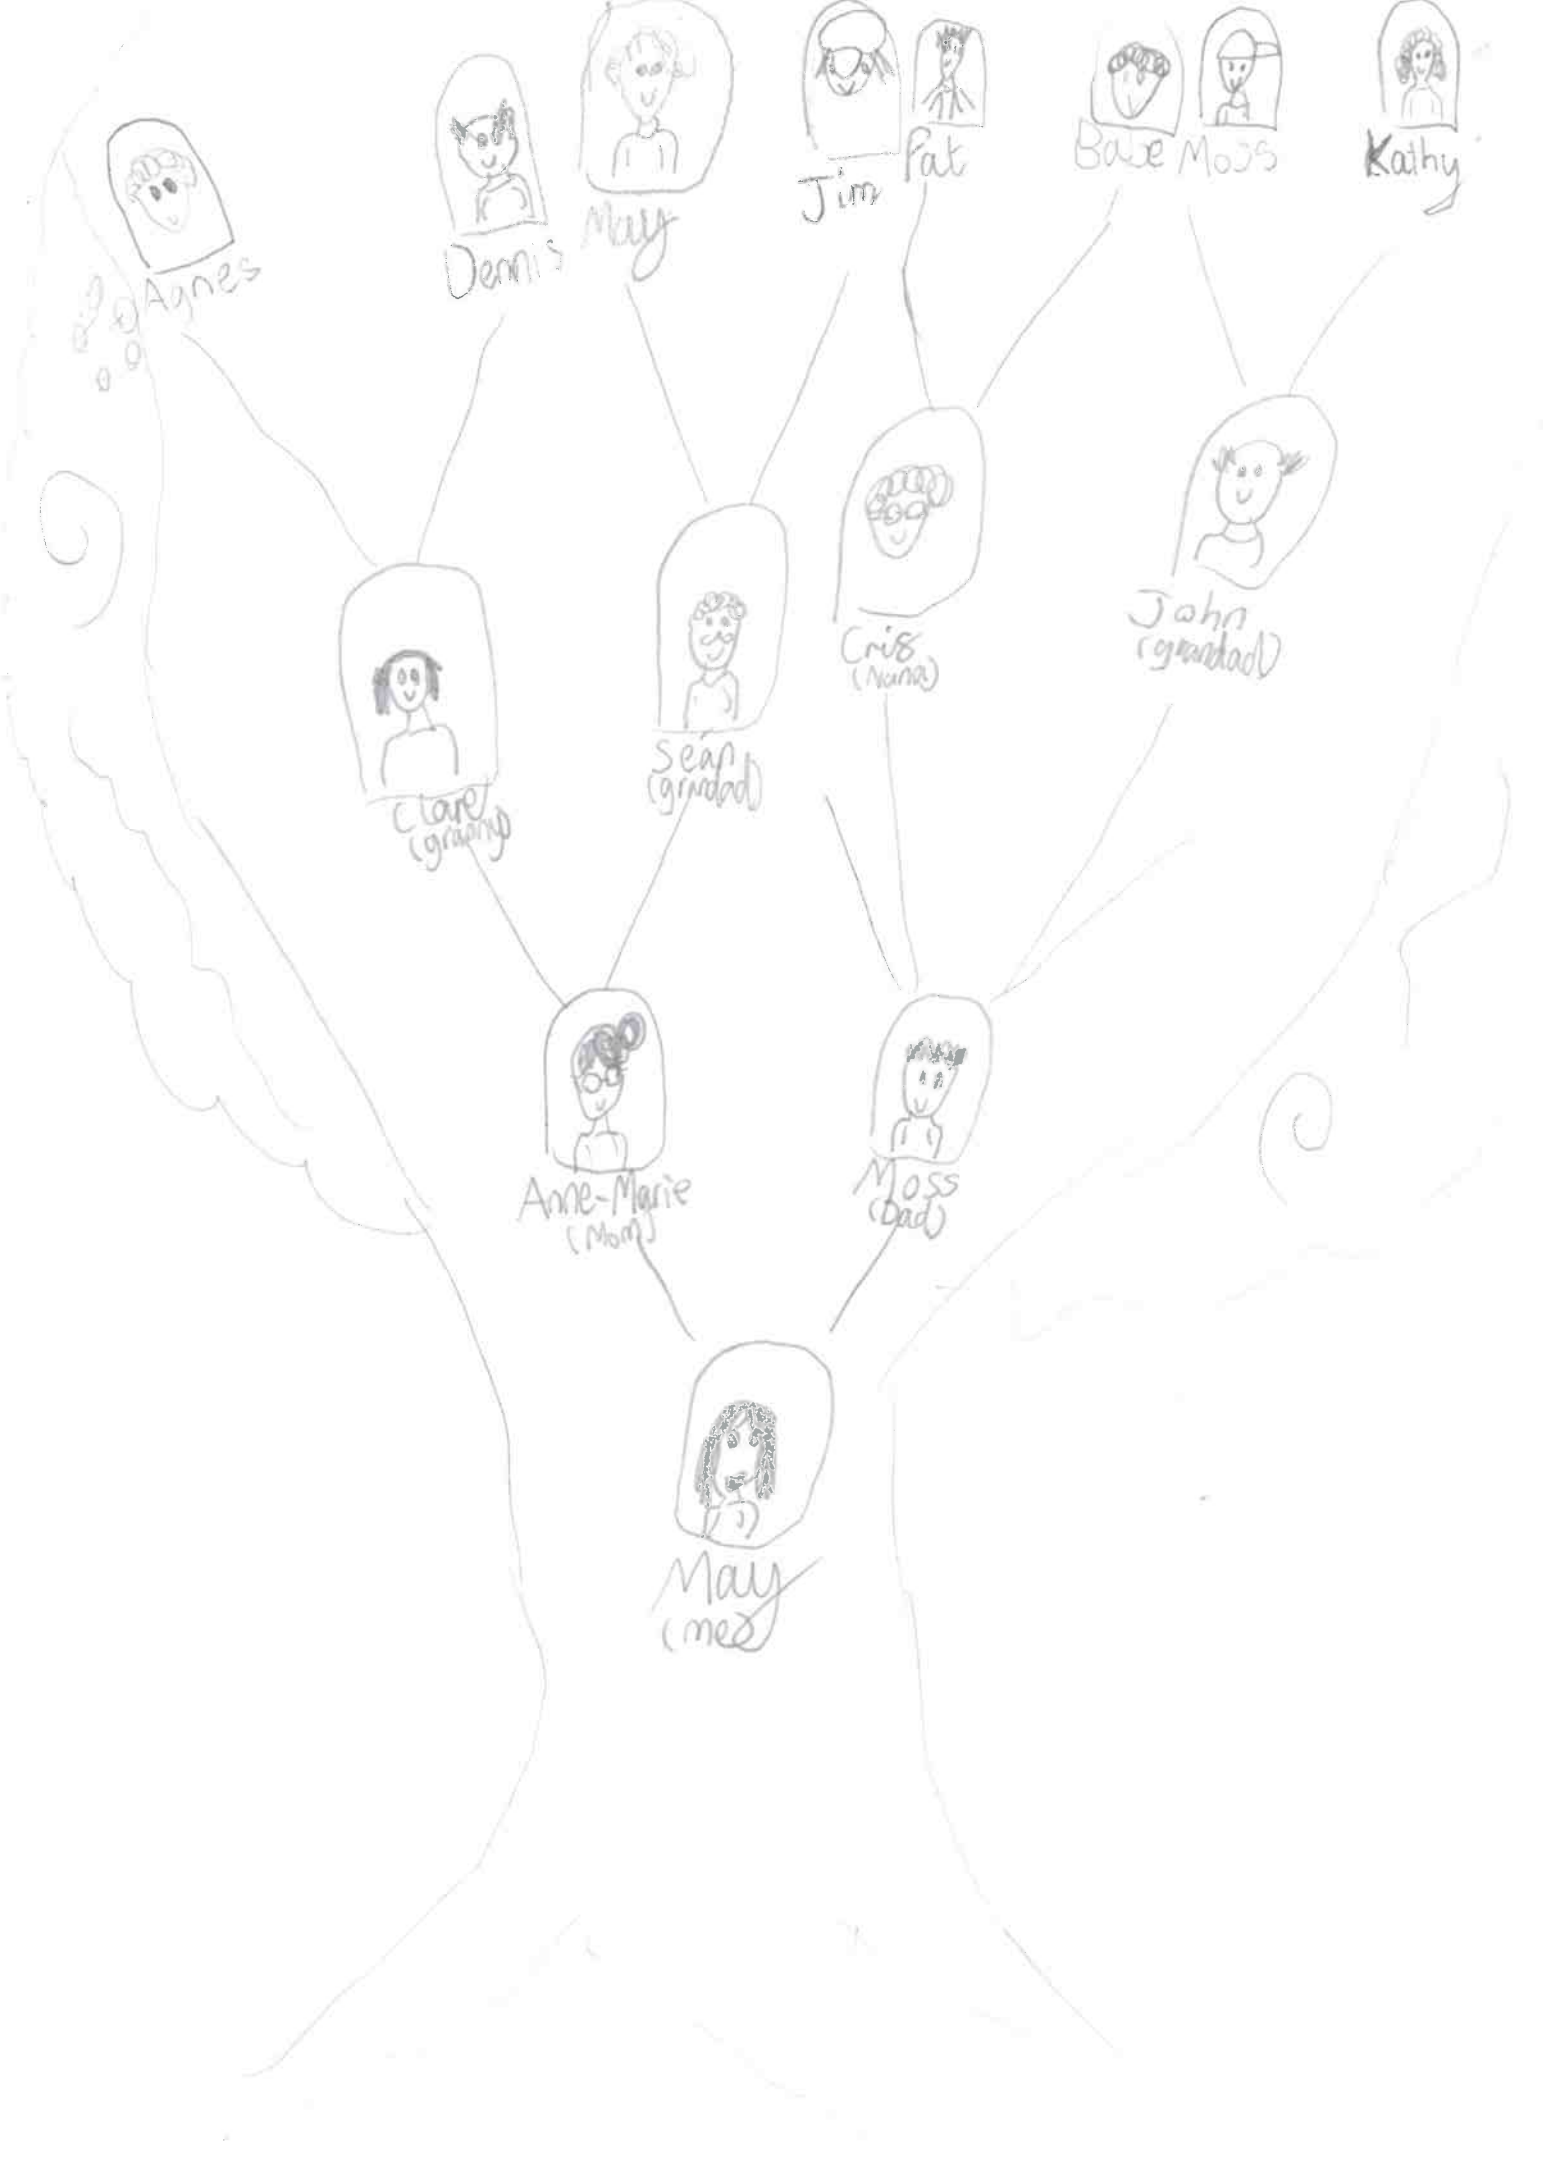

Once there was a naughty boy called Dennis. He lived next to a grumpy old man who lived in a big house. No one liked the grumpy man. He was really mean.

One day Dennis and his mischievous friends were looking for something naughty to do when they came across a dead donkey. The donkey was in perfect shape except for small cut. It looked more like it was asleep than dead. Then Dennis had an idea. He asked his friends to carry down to where the old man lives.

When they got to the old man's house Dennis asked his friends to lean the donkey against the door. Dennis rang the doorbell and hid behind a bush with his friends. His friends giggled. They saw what he was doing.

The old man opened and screamed. The donkey fell right on top of him! The grunted and said some bad words (*!#@). Dennis and his friends ran off giggling like crazy!

Agnes

Dennis

May

Jim Pat

Base Moss

Kathy

Clare (Grandma)

Sean (Grandad)

Cris (Nana)

John (Grandad)

Anne-Marie (Mom)

Moss (Dad)

May (me)