1916 Easter rising

• Easter rising in Dublin 24th - 29th April 1916.

• A rebellion against British rule

• The rising failed but it was a legacy in that British response to the rising guided a lot of the Irish public away from the Home rule and towards a fully independent Irish republic

• The Irish parliamentary party led by John Redmond

• The home rule bill was passed by the house of commons and made in law 1914

• The passing of this law was postponed due to the first world war.
