

My nana Adolfina told me that in 1939, during the German World War 2, her mother almost died, which was my great grandmother. At that time she was 13 years old and with her brother Jonas, they ran into the Kuršai village church, their mother told them to run to the church to pray and make confessions. On their way, they ~~got~~<sup>ran</sup> into the German (front). There were guns firing everywhere. My great grandmother and her brother hid in a groove and remained alive. They heard bullets passing by. It was scary. When it all silenced, they got scared and went home. After a while they found out that the priest had been shot.
